After putting in place the underground trolley he crawled from the pit and engaged in conversation with Poiceman Shipley, of the Ninth precinct, who was standing by. The conversation continued until the approach of an east-bound car, when Page lowered himself into the pit to remove the underground trolley from the car, so that it might continue on its journey to Chesapeake Junction.

THE GRAINS AND COTTON.

July Exports in the Two Staples Compared.

The advance report of the Bureau of Staistics on the experts of breadstuffs, provisions, cotton, and mineral oils, during July has been published. The total figures have been given out heretofore, but a more extended synopsis of the statistics is interesting. It furnishes a strong commentary on the small wheat yield of the past year with the price only moderate and at the same time on the rather small cotton yield, but with the price very high. On the whole the figures are most satisfactory, showing a total larger than in any J. C. Page, twenty-five years old, who year before except one in the history of der are out of order.

252,524 in 1899, and $20,933,413 in 1895. The figures for 1897 and 1896 also were larger than those for the present year.

While it will be seen that grains and meats have thus not shown any marked increase recently, and that in fact there have been decreases in the exports, the have been decreases in the exports, the contrary is emphatically the case with regard to cotton. The reasons for this difference is not in the least mysterious. The production of wheat in this country last year was small comparatively and the demand has not been so great as to force the average price up much. The production of cotton was smaller, too, but in this case there has been an immense foreign demand which has forced the price to the highest notch in years.

Page fell against the exposed underground trolley wires in the conduit and received a current of enormous voitage through his body. His death occurred in No. 9 patrol wagon shortly before it arrived at the Casualty Hospital, where Page was being hastened in an endeavor to save his life. His body is now at the morgue where it will be viewed by Acting Coroner Glazebrook. An inquest will probably be held tomorrow morning.

Just how Page came in contact with the live wires in the conduit pit is not known. He had been stationed there for some time and understood thoroughly the arrangement of the wires. It was his duty to remove or put in place the underground trolleys on the electric cars as they changed from the underground to the overhead system, or vice versa. Policeman Shipley lost little time in making an investigation and was shocked to find Page prostrate in the bottom of the pit. An odor of burning clothing and flesh told him that the pitman had been shocked, and Shipley at once summoned the patrol wagon.

In the meantime the senseless form of Page had been lifted from 4he pit. Life was not yet extinct, and, in the hope that medical attention might awall, all haste was made to the hospital. On arriving at the inativution Dr. Reeves, of the resident staff, made an examination and pronounced Page dead. The body was than was made to the hospital. On arriving at the institution Dr. Reeves, of the resident staff, made an examination and pronounced Page dead. The body was then removed to the morave and Acting Coroner Glazebrook notified.

An examination of the body of Page showed that he had been burned at the pit of the stomach, on the right for arm and the left hand. There was also an ugly wound on the back of the head. That would appeared to have been the result of a fall.

COURT HOUSE IN DANGER.

Walls of the New Orleans Building Likely to Fall.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 14.-City Englneer Hardee today reported that the walls on the Franklin Street side and were in a dangerous condition and likely to fall.

The walls in the front and rear, he says, are also bulged, but not dangerously.

The building is comparatively new, having been erected in 1892 at a cost of about $4,000,000. There were many scandals affecting its construction, which resulted in the indictment of the city engineer and of several councilmen, and the municipal of several councilmen, and the municipal clection of 1892 turned largely on that issue and resulted in the election of an independent ticket. It was not known at dependent ticket. It was not known at the time, however, that the court build-ing was faulty in construction and would Despite her diminutiveness the little g'rl

Tragedy Over a Game of Cards WELCH, W. Va., Aug. 14.—At Thacker, WELCH, W. Va., Aug. 14.—At Thacker, on the Norfolk and Western Railroad, early Sunday morning seven men engaged in a game of cards in a saloon got into a dispute about alleged cheating. In the alteraction that followed Joe Stevens was shot through the right breast and through the through the right breast and through the neck. Howard Rinehart was shot through the abdomen, and a bullet from a .38-call-bre army pistol shattered the bone of his arm at the shoulder. Neither will recover. A dozen men took part in the melee, and several of the others were so badly beat-en that they are in bed. Recommendation Not Amiss.

Recommendation Not Amiss.

The distinction which Washington invariably enjoys of being the hottest city in the United States whenever a heat wave sweeps across the country is not an enviable one, says the editor of the "Post." It occurs to the "Post." that action by the District authorities would go far toward mitigating the danger and discomfort of the heat, and as a mere suggestion recommends that the pavements be cooled by water at night during these protracted heat spells. It may be urged by way of objection that the water supply of Washington is limited. If this objection is raised then the "Post" can truly recommend Heurich's beer to the people as a cooling and refreshing beverage. This fact is known about Heurich's by a great majority of the people of the city and the "Post" recommendation would not be amiss.

THE CRAMPS AS PLAINTIFFS Suit for Damages Brought Against

a Steamship Company. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.-A heavy claim for damages is the basis of a libel that has been filed in the United States District Court by the William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Building Company against the New York, Cuban, and Mail Steamship Company.

The Cramp Company seeks to recover for repairs to boats belonging to the defendant company. The Cramps were not in the city yesterday, and Attorney J. Rodman Paul, counsel for the Cramp Company, would not talk about the case further than dressings that she has to undergo whenever there is a fresh batch of visitors to the house. The fond mother and father are proud to show her. The little one is
